ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The contents of the report represent the efforts of many individuals who assisted in mailing, editing, processing, and preparing for publication the results of the 1993 Annual Census of Establishments (ACE). This report summarizes the findings of the survey of employers on Guam. We would like to thank all the employers whose cooperation made this report possible.

The project leader, Gary A. Hiles, wrote the report's text and is responsible for its overall content. Sunny K. Bathan produced this report in its entirety. Lisa J. Aganon and Marie S. Heflin were primarily responsible for the voluminous task of maintaining the address file, mailings, editing, follow-up, and key punching necessary to conduct this survey. Invaluable assistance was provided by Juan Castro, Piere Calvo, Eileen H. Sablan, Patrick W. Cepeda, and Rochelle A. Sablan.

Acknowledgement is due the University of Guam Computer Center and staff under the direction of Dr. Luan Nguyen for providing substantial data processing support. Special appreciation goes to Ms. Frances Villaverde of the Computer Center for the computer programming support necessary to produce this report.

Acknowledgement also goes to the U.S. Department of Labor's Employment and Training Administration for their cooperation in providing technical and financial assistance.

Private sector employment is reported by actual location of each establishment with a few minor exceptions for multi-establishment firms which report their entire employment under the headquarter's location.

MAP OF GUAM

The Annual Census of Establishments' employment by citizenship tables were expanded with additional detail beginning in March 1988 to measure the effect of the Compact of Free Association Act on employment of Micronesians on Guam. From 1988 through 1990 persons from CNMI and Belau who were not reported in other classifications are reported as unclassified CNMI or unclassified Belau. In 1992 these employees are included in their respective citizenship or visa category. We began collecting and reporting data on the H-1 category in 1991. A comparative analysis of the 1988, 1989, 1990, 1991, 1992 and 1993 figures is as follows:

<sup>3</sup> From 1978-1981 the employment data of all employees on Guam including government were reported in their respective industry divisions; the Federal and Guam Government totals are also reported separately but their employment is included in the categorization by industry. For all other years, employment is first sorted by ownership (Private, Federal Government and Guam Government) and then the Private Sector data is categorized by industry.

<sup>1</sup> Government of Guam figures include all employees and are not directly comparable to private sector production (nonsupervisory) worker estimates.

LIMITATIONS

Total employment from the establishment survey is not directly comparable to the Bureau of Labor Statistics' estimates of the number of persons employed obtained from the "household" survey. The "payroll" series excludes unpaid family workers, domestic servants in private homes, proprietors and other self-employed persons, all of whom are covered by two or more establishments at each place of employment, while the "household" survey counts him only once, and classifies him according to his single major activity. Certain persons on unpaid leave are counted as employed in the "household" survey, but are not included in the employment count derived from the "payroll" series. Excluded from the "household" survey are Non-immigrant Alien workers and employees under 16 years of age who are included in the "payroll" survey. In addition to these differences in concept and scope, the surveys employ different collection and estimating techniques. Therefore, although each survey measures changes in employment, direct comparability should not be expected. However, over time, the trends are expected to be similar. The "household" survey places its primary emphasis on the employment status of individuals and also provides a great deal of information on the demographic characteristics (e.g., sex, age, ethnic background) of the labor force. The survey is not well suited to providing detailed information on the industrial distribution of employment. The establishment survey, while providing limited information on personal characteristics of workers, is an excellent vehicle for obtaining these detailed industrial data, and in addition, it provides hours and earnings information which is directly related to the employment figures. The "payroll" and "household" surveys therefore may be regarded as complementary.

HISTORICAL TABLES

Data for these tables is from the Current Employment Statistics (CES) survey except the table on Employment by Sex which is from the Annual Census of Establishments (ACE) survey. This survey is conducted using a large sample of private business establishments and all Government agencies. Estimates are made for the number of employees on payrolls, the number of production or non-supervisory workers and average weekly hours, average hourly earnings, and average weekly earnings for these production or non-supervisory workers. The census data may differ very slightly due to the inclusion of Foreign Government employment on Guam and rounding. The total employment estimates are based or bench-marked on the ACE survey.
